

International Women's Day

#ChooseToChallenge

“I will challenge the expectations of women to do it all”

“I will actively share what I see and appreciate in women”

“I will challenge a singular view of ‘women’ and push for intersectionality”

“I will use my access and platform to amplify the voices of Black women and other women of color in YSC and beyond and ensure that they are compensated for their labor and expertise”

“I will empower women when they question their decisions to stand up for themselves”

“I will do my best to communicate the identities we have been socialized to identify as ‘female’”

“I will be aware of assumptions I or others might be making”

“I will be aware of my gender and actively listen to my female identifying colleagues”

“I will educate and actively talk about the pressure that women of color face to be perfect and excel at everything to succeed in business”

“I will challenge self limiting beliefs and inequality and praise success of women in tech”

“I will challenge self-limiting beliefs in myself & others”

“I will support LGBT+ women, especially the T, with understanding”

“I will challenge gender stereotypes with my daughter”

“I will capture my reflections on women achieving great feats”
